Memorandum
to the School Library
from the School Library

As an advisor he has given his time unselfishly to help carry out successfully our many projects and has shared with us our interests and ambitions. As an advisor and a teacher he has always shown wisdom, patience and understanding in his dealings with us, and his guidance and reassurance have helped us through many troubled times. During our years at Grafton he has shown himself to be more than an advisor and a teacher. He has been a friend. In recognition of the many hours he has spent with us as an advisor, a teacher, and a friend, we, the class of 1970, dedicate our yearbook, the Com-pass, to Mr. John G. Tite.
